I must say "I feel your pain". Although I've learned to filter out much of the noise on twitter. Which is why I tell everyone to please send E-Mail to or contact me on Ghosts & Haunts, or with a mention on twitter. I ignore all private messages on twitter since 99.8% of them are tempts to steal your password.

Also unfortunately the generaly non-directed traffic seems to be over run with folks who's accounts have gotten hacked and are being used to send advertisements.

But, there is also a extremely active crowd of paranormal folks on there. Great friends! If not for all our twitter followers we would not be where we are today.
