Is anything new or different going on? With how you are feeling or with the attachment? Are things just the same or are they worse.

Not sure what happened with that. They should have returned by now. I thought They were really going to help you. With the conversation that I had with that group I am really dissapointed in them. Ok Here we go. get your sage and smudge your home. Ask the Archangle Michael to come and find the ghost that is closest to you. Ask him to take that ghost home to the Lord for healing. make sure you put emphasis on FIND and TAKE!!!

When you smudge let it set for 1 hour and then open your doors and windows. Let the fresh air in (good energy) and the old out(neg energy). Use sage, cedar and sweetgrass. You can get this on amazon.

When you do this make sure you say a prayer before for protection, during and after. You are stronger then they are. remember that. This is kind of out there, but have you contacted TAPS, Ghost hunters. They may have a group that is repable. Ghost Hunters International. maybe.. I wish I was closer to you. It would easier. But we will keep trying to do this long distance. Good luck, Godspeed!

HI.sorry not wrote for a while.i have had two mediums to my home..i got hold of someone who is over all the churches..when these two mediums came, they could not feel any presence for a while..but a little while later, my late husband came through, he did not want to come forward at first, he thouht the mediums had come to make him cross over.[so wished they had] my late husband kept saying how sorry he was for doing all this to me, he said he wanted to make up for all he could not do in life..he told the mediums he was ready now to move on...so they left...but my late husband as not kept to his word..i have been intouch with the mediums since, but they said they had done all they could do..but would put me intouch with someone who lives in chesire...too far for me, and to expensive...i feel like i am back to stage one..my husband said i felt the energy very strong at the beginning, because he had not quite worked things out, how to control things..what does it take to make this spirit go away ?

this sounds more like an obsession . when the mediums connected you did they measure your energy field? I would say no. You need to let him go. sounds like he is staying around you because you won't let him go . Do you still wear his wedding ring and where is his ? you have got to make him a memory and move on, go out and meet some other people.Start a new life get out of the rut.

They did not measure any energy field...just spoke to him..he said he wanted to make up all he could not do while alive...i do not want him near me..i go out..i have a boyfriend..but my husband insists on being with me at night..i have a sexual relationship with my boyfriend..but i still feel my husband with me..next to me at night..if i wanted my husband with me, i would not still be seeking help after 3 years..i just want him to go. him to move on..i am trying to move on..but how can i with this energy around me...i hate him being around..i was not close to him when he was alive..i have dreams of him alot..that is something i do not want..why cannot mediums make him go ?
